January 2026

From the Pastor's Desk

Christmas has come. Maybe that's not what we expect to read in a January Newsletter, but according to the church calendar, it's the season of Christmastide until January 6, when we remember the story of the arrival of the Magi. Note that I did not say Christmas has come and gone. In a hymn found in our New Century Hymnal, a verse reads, "When the song of the angels is stilled, when the star in the sky is gone, When the sages and the shepherds have found their way home, the work of Christmas is begun" ("I Am the Light of the World," #584).

It's no mistake that each new year begins in the midst of the true Christmas season. The incarnation—God taking on flesh—is not a reality we should stop celebrating on December 26. The claim that God can reside in real, physical, tangible bodies—in us, even—is central to our faith and life as Christians. That is why the work of Christmas is merely beginning when the song of the angels is stilled, and the star in the sky is gone, and the sages and shepherds have found their way home.

The reminder of this truth brings newness each year; it refreshes us. It allows us to see new possibilities and new life in the coming twelve months. With the promise of Emmanuel (God with us), we can begin anew and we are called to live into our new reality by showing God's presence in not only our hearts, but in our hands and feet and words and deeds. As Jesus was, we are called to embody God's love as the Body of Christ today. That means putting into practice those things our faith teaches us are true about God, things like grace, mercy, compassion, peace, and justice—those same things to which Jesus pointed and practiced (often in the face of great opposition).

Let us ring in the New Year by celebrating the power and promise of God's incarnation everyday.

Church celebrates bright future with solar panels. Renewable energy to reduce carbon footprint.

Watertown Daily times – December 26, 2025

ED ZAGORSKI, Author

"I think it's important for the church to take part in the preservation of God's creation — a creation constantly under threat by forces more willing to follow a golden calf than the God of new life," First Congregational United Church of Christ Senior Pastor Rev. Dr. Christopher Ross said.

Activated Monday, First Congregational United Church of Christ Moderator Jim Ortega said that the church's new solar panels reduce their electricity bills, minimize their carbon footprint, and honor their faith and good stewardship of the environment.

Ortega said the solar panels are expensive, but because they were installed by year's end, the First Congregational United Church of Christ will realize a tax credit/refund for about $40,000.

"They are configured to produce our electrical usage level," Ortega said. "We don't have storage batteries, instead we just sell it (power) back to the utility grid and the utility company will discount our electrical bill every month accordingly.”

He said for the First Congregational United Church of Christ and its members it makes sense to have solar panels because it fulfills their green initiative and reduces their carbon footprint.

“It helps the planet, and in the long run, we’re also going to save a great deal on our electric bills,” Ortega said. “We were fortunate to have Appleton Solar install them and complete the project before the end of the year.”

He said long before the solar panels were installed the church membership needed to make a decision on whether or not to have them.

“About 75% of the total cost is to be paid by pledges and donations made by our church members,” Ortega said.

He said for the remaining amount the church membership decided to use other available funds for it (rather than take out a commercial loan).

“It’s definitely a good investment for us,” Ortega said. “Our panels have a 25-year warranty and the payback will be less than 10 years because we are cutting our electric bills.”

He said with electricity costs increasing it was a wise investment. “The higher the rates go the more we are saving,” Ortega said.

He attended a conference in October given by Phius, a non-profit organization committed to decarbonizing the built environment.

“They basically work with the contractor to lower the carbon footprint,” Ortega said. “The speaker said, ‘If it’s a skyscraper or a residence, you can extrapolate the electricity costs over 30 years. It grows and grows exponentially.’ Even if we have to replace the system in 30 years, we will gain better technology. As they become older, the panels will still work, but they won’t be at 100% efficiency.”

He said old solar panels are often donated and turned over to poverty-stricken countries for use. “They still work and can lower the carbon footprint, but they are not working at full capacity,” Ortega said. “It still makes sense to pass them along and keep them running to help another country or neighbor with their power needs.”

Dear Members of Our Congregation,

We are excited to share joyful news with you—our child care ministry is growing! Thanks to your continued prayers, generosity, and encouragement, we will soon be opening a second child care center location to better serve families in our community.

This expansion is a wonderful milestone for our ministry. Each day, we see how deeply children thrive when they are welcomed into a safe, nurturing, faith-filled environment. Opening a new location will allow us to extend that same care to even more little ones, offering additional classroom spaces, more family support, and continued opportunities to share God’s love through early childhood education.

We are profoundly grateful for the role you have played in making this possible. Your support—whether through volunteering, giving, or simply holding our teachers and families in your prayers—has laid the foundation for this next chapter. We truly could not have reached this point without you. If you are interested in volunteering or giving, please let me know!

As we prepare for this expansion, we look forward to keeping you updated and welcoming you to celebrate with us. Please continue to pray for our staff, the children who will soon join us, and for the continued success of our growing ministry.

Thank you for walking alongside us as we care for children, support families, and strengthen our community.

With gratitude and blessings,

December was a busy month for the choir. They sang each Sunday during Advent, including the Christmas pageant, and on Christmas Eve. Laura Yurs joined the choir on flute one of those Sundays,

The WUSD Carolers made their annual visit on December 21st, and while this article is being written well before, we expect several guest singers on Christmas Eve, including “grown and flown singers” and next generation singers. I’ll name those in the next newsletter. James Ortega joined us already on Dec. 7th. And, of course my continuing thanks goes to Tom Rusch, who serves the music program of our church in so many ways!

Senior Choir continues at 9:00 a.m. on Sunday mornings in the choir room and meets weekly, unless noted ahead of time. We will meet at 6:00 on Christmas Eve to rehearse, but we won’t rehearse on December 28th. We will resume rehearsals on Jan. 4, 2026.

Something extra to look forward to will be an Ecumenical Choir as part of the service that our church will host on Martin Luther King, Jr. Day.

We can always use more singers. There are no special requirements to be in the choir. Familiarity with music reading is helpful but not required. In the past few years, I have been choosing and adapting the music that I use to the skills and numbers of the singers that attend. We generally work on 2-3 pieces of music each week, so that we are working ahead and have several rehearsals on the same piece of music before singing it in a service.

You do not have to be a church member or make a weekly commitment to be a part of the choir. High school age and above are welcome (and I would consider musically enthusiastic or advanced 8th graders.) Drop-ins are also welcome. If you play an instrument, please let me know. You never know when there might be an opportunity to play.

Church musicians, vocal or instrumental, are providing ministry in another way. We not only serve as leaders of the hymns but also add an anthem or special music to the service which is intended to expand upon the theme of the lectionary or the service, or provide music as a backdrop for prayerful meditation.

Community Martin Luther King, Jr. Day Worship at Our Church

This year, the day honoring the justice work and legacy of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Junior falls on Monday, January 19. The congregations involved in Building a Welcoming Watertown are joining together to offer a special worship service that evening, beginning at 6:30, right here in our sanctuary.

Come, be part of this community that seeks to remember—and be inspired to put into action—the same principles that grounded the Civil Rights Movement.

When? Monday, January 19, 6:30 p.m.

Where? The sanctuary of First Congregational United Church of Christ

Tech Opportunities

Thank you to Dale Bakke, Bill Edington, Juanita Edington, and Pamela Martin who recorded during December.

We record each service and are looking to expand our camera operators. The primary responsibilities are to run the camera focusing on the “action at the moment” (the liturgist, acolyte, minister, choir, or special musician/s) and make microphone adjustments as needed. I am currently taking care of the editing and production.

Please contact me if you are interested and when you are available. Training is available. Thanks.

“The Best Old Fashioned Christmas Pageant Ever”

With Melissa Mattke needing to be out for another surgery, but with a Christmas program already scheduled into the worship services for December, Jennie Ortega and Juanita Edington took on the challenge of filling in for Melissa to organize and present a program. We chose a pageant that could be easily pulled together with people of any age in the congregation on the given morning (and of course, the scheduled date gave us one of the coldest of this winter’s beginning)!

Tom Rusch provided piano interludes, underscore with narration, and accompaniment for all the songs sung. The choir, a women’s trio, and the congregation, all sang familiar carols woven through the narration and the congregational costumed volunteers playing the parts of the Nativity story.

We would like to thank our actors: Jill and Greg Kulick, Mary and Joseph; Colin Kulick, Barb Weiss, Shepherds & Joyce Uglow, sheep; Laura Yurs, herder & Amos, donkey; Lee Buescher, cow; Kylie Kulick, sheep; Denice Derlyth, dove; Fran Milburn, Ellen Brown, & Jennifer Bakke, wise (wo)men;

Pastor Chris for at the last minute agreeing to serve as stage manager-giving entrance cues to all of the actors; choir soloists, Bill Edington, Jim Ortega, Juanita Edington, Kristin Chowanec; Jennie Ortega, director and narrator; Juanita Edington, music direction; and Tom Rusch, accompanist.

23rd Advent Recital 2025

This year’s recital was beautiful, thoughtful, and had a nice variety of music. You may not be aware, but the only music that I really have control of, is that which I perform in, unless asked by the performers. So, the soloists or ensembles choose their music and rehearse it on their own.

They get me their titles and other information and I put the music into what I think will be a pleasant order to listen to, and a reasonable order for the musicians to perform their selections.

Our performers this year were: Kristin Chowanec, Kristen Curran, Vicky Daniels, Bill & Juanita Edington, Theresa Janke Oestreicher, Kevin Koehnke, Erin & Kara Lynch, Tim Meier, James, Jennie, & Jim Ortega, Zachary Oster, Tom Rusch, Pamela Whitcomb, Laura Yurs, Eliza & Penelope Zabel.

The recital was recorded and will be able to be viewed through the website or by clicking this link.

Our thanks go to Jennifer Bakke, Ellen Brown, Sue Harms, Jill Kulick, Joyce Uglow, and Barb Weiss who brought cookies for the reception, and especially Sue and Barb who coordinated, set up & cleaned up.

This year, our free will donation basket was designated to go to the new Emergency Warming Shelter program fund. Thanks to your generosity, this event raised just over $300!
